

DEATH | Judgment Day - Resurrection?

Question:

Theologians cannot answer the question about life after death. During a Christian eulogy, Judgment Day, when all the dead are supposed to awaken, is always referred to in spite of that.

AREDOS:

This is indeed a *decisive error.

No priest can bestow comfort to the bereaved, because he doesn't know the reality himself. Christian faith presents the resurrection in a way where there is no actual deadline. This leaves the people on Earth completely ignorant. They are not able to imagine what the resurrection is all about. ...

From the protocol [\[Death sets no limits\]](#) - page 56

But the Christian doctrine allows the people on Earth a slight hope, namely "Judgment Day". On this yet unspecified day the dead are supposed to be awakened to a new life by the call of a trumpet from the other side. - This hope is naïve; it lacks any sort of logic!

The experiences made in the hereafter and the research into the hereafter speaks against it. It is quite inexplicable how your biblical ancestors have arrived at such a day.

From the protocol [\[Death sets no limits\]](#) - page 55

Churches that cling to words and switch off any normal logic, do not have a sensible concept about the hereafter and the resurrection of man; but they demand from their followers that they accept their concepts to be the truth, accept them without criticism and without contradiction. This is why many people think that the resurrection in the Christian doctrine according to the bible takes place in their old flesh. This opinion might be incredible, but it is fairly wide spread and is also common amongst priests.

From the protocol [\[Death sets no limits\]](#) - page 26

- The resurrection of decaying flesh doesn't exist and will never exist, because according to the LAWS of GOD, it is not possible.

From the protocol [\[Eternal truth\]](#) - page 10

When a priest or a minister delivers a sermon at a gravesite, he naturally talks about the soul of the deceased. I am however aware that these priests and theologians have no real concept whatsoever about the soul. Almost all of them are of the opinion that the soul enters a period of sleep after a person's demise; that it doesn't even dream, but that it remains in deep unconsciousness. But, GOD willing, billions of souls will be awakened one after the other - or all at the same time - at an undetermined Day of Judgment. During an egregious juridical hearing, more than half these souls will then be immersed in a fiery, liquid blaze to eternally broil and bubble, whilst an infinitesimally small number will be accommodated in heaven, a place of extreme pleasures, a delight without ending. What is even worse is the concept that souls remain next to the decaying bodies in the grave.

What next? - If you would only have an inkling of how illogical this nonsense is! - ...

From the protocol [\[A call from the cosmos\]](#) - page 23

- There is no mass-awakening and no "Judgment Day", when all departed souls are suddenly awakened to then be led to face the great judgment!

From the protocol [\[Death sets no limits\]](#) - page 55

GOD'S REPRESENTATIVE, namely CHRIST gave you a clear answer to this. CHRIST said to the two companions crucified next to him: "I promise you that today you will be in paradise with me." - Paradise is of course a positive SPHERE within the spiritual realm. "Judgment Day" isn't mentioned here at all.

- Judgment Day is the day of one's terrestrial demise!

It is a ceremonial entering into one's spiritual life. It is the great day of one's return to the actual, basic condition of one's human existence. ...

From the protocol [\[A call from the cosmos\]](#) - page 23

- The Day of Judgment is the day of reawakening of the soul, therefore the reawakening of the consciousness in the spiritual realm. This day varies between one minute and a few months, depending on the cause of death and the mental state

But the resurrection does not apply to the body, that is to say, is not physical as such, but a mental event, even thou the spirit has an astral body, which represents a limiting sheath for the soul. ...

From the protocol [\[Death sets no limits\]](#) - page 56

The TRUTH is that earthlings fall asleep after their death. But this sleep is of varied duration. It orientates itself according to the kind of death experienced and according to the condition, respectively the state of the soul. In most cases the sleep after death last a relatively short time. Sometimes we're only dealing with hours that a human being spends in deep unconsciousness.

In other cases, the soul leaves the body consciously and only then will it enter a recovery sleep. Other cases take a little bit longer, maybe weeks or months. But these would be the exceptions, as it is for instance the case because of an explosion or other sudden accidents. -

- What does remain important for you is the realisation that the disembodied individual continues to live consciously almost immediately after death.

From the protocol [\[Death sets no limits\]](#) - page 55

Even though every soul escapes from its terrestrial body fully conscious to continue its existence in another DIMENSION, a Christian minister will give a funeral service that robs relatives and surviving dependants of all hope.

- A resurrection on a "Day of Judgement" is not a theological or scientific explanation and the false conclusion that the departed enter a period of "eternal peace" even less so.

This depiction makes one think that a deceased person can no longer see, hear or think. The fact is that the spiritual PERSON is already standing at the graveside and if it was not hindered by the barriers between spirit and matter, would completely lose control and physically interfere because of its disgust about the funeral speech held on its behalf.

From the protocol [UFO-Contact I.N.D.] - page 30

... The souls quite often participate in their own funeral; they are also often present at the ensuing wake and the argumentations over the inheritance. They are quite often witnessing the fighting amongst relatives over the inheritance. ...

But the genuine sorrow of the bereaved also gives them something to worry about. ...

A departed soul has the ability to see your world without being seen by you. The resurrection to a spiritual life begins immediately after the disembodiment.

From the protocol [Death sets no limits] - page 56

- The death of people actually represents their BIRTH in a new FORM.

It is JUDGMENT DAY, the day to say goodbye to tangible physical matter. Physical matter however still remains visible in spite of this. It is an exchange between two forms of life that still form one world all the same.

- The material world is left like leaving school.
- The disembodied can move at a speed that is beyond that of light. He can now move with the speed of thought if he has the FREEDOM, that is to say, if he not tied to the Earth due to a wasted life on Earth.

This can only be achieved once a spiritual level of DEVELOPMENT has been reached that offers him this FREEDOM.

From the protocol [A call from the cosmos] - page 28

Question:

What were people supposed to learn from the resurrection of JESUS?

SETHAN:

This was supposed to show that the absolute dissolution of a spiritual substance is impossible. The resurrection of JESUS was supposed to show that life after death does exist, but not in a physical form like the one you take on here on Earth. The resurrection of JESUS was associated with a materialization, to show that death is being conquered. Death only represent the transition to another life, another existence.

- The resurrection of JESUS showed that FORM continues to exist, namely the spiritual FORM, and that this FORM crosses over to completely different ETHEREAL PLANES. This made it visually plain to you here on Earth that you can exist within the most diverse spheres at any time.

From the protocol [\[Jesus Christ \(MAK\)\]](#) - page 15

- There is no “eternal sleep”, but an immediate resurrection, the way CHRIST conveniently showed you. The resurrection of CHRIST is not an exception; it applies to everybody. The way CHRIST showed himself to his disciples, many a deceased person shows himself to his relatives, this applies especially to psychic native tribes.

From the protocol [\[Eternal truth\]](#) - page 35

Church doctrine doesn't preach an immediate resurrection. This is regrettable and causes a lot of sorrow amongst those left behind. The way the Churches portray the resurrection is a very vague promise, because only those that believe in CHRIST are called upon to resurrect on “Judgement Day. - This is a mistake!

- Even those people that do not believe in CHRIST are not excluded from immediate resurrection; they are subject to the same NATURAL LAWS!!

From the protocol [\[Death sets no limits\]](#) - page 29

Almost everybody believes that the demise of the body also represents the death of the soul. This view was already prevalent during biblical times. This is why CHRIST repeatedly taught that people will enter the GREAT HOME after their life on Earth, which represents their actual home.

Those that take the bible literally maintain that with his resurrection CHRIST gave definite proof that man resurrects after death, if he is willing to believe in CHRIST. The spiritual realm naturally represents the GREAT HOME for man; but it has good and dreadful apartments. Just where one ends up depends entirely on man himself.

The situation where a dead body comes back to life once the soul has left it never happens. To bring a “clinically” dead person back to life can only take place if the soul has not yet finally separated from the body. But there is a resurrection and it applies to everybody, no matter whether they do believe in GOD or CHRIST or not! Even whether people are good or evil doesn't matter!

Every human being experiences resurrection with their soul!

Many religions preach that resurrection is only possible to a select group of people. This is nonsense! - ...

From the protocol [\[Death sets no limits\]](#) - page 27

... everyone dies, spiritually survives this death, awakens and recovers in the so-called hereafter. ...

From the protocol [\[Death sets no limits\]](#) - page 26

... Physical man cannot resurrect at all, only the soul can when it separates from the physical body and thereby becomes independent. But if we're dealing with resurrection in the flesh, we are talking about reincarnation, namely the rebirth on Earth in the physical. But this resurrection is the application of a natural law for everybody. But the length of one's stay within the spiritual spheres varies.

From the protocol [\[Death sets no limits\]](#) - page 27 - 28

It doesn't just represent death when somebody dies and leaves their body back on Earth and thereafter enters the spiritual realm, but it represents a spiritual resurrection at the same time. But when a child is born on Earth, it doesn't just represent death, a farewell from the hereafter, but a spiritual and carnal resurrection in the physical. These are the most important developmental events of man. Herein lays the whole sense of the human existence. - Think about this carefully!

From the protocol [\[Death sets no limits\]](#) - page 33

... He who wants to love CHRIST has to distance himself from the "sleeping soul" dogma, something like that doesn't exist! It does happen that an ailing soul will spend some time in a deep sleep, but not till "Judgement Day", an unspecified day in the future.

- For everyone on Earth, there is a "Judgement Day, this day too is a day of judgement but nobody knows when it will be. This day is the hour of everyone's return to the realm of spirit.

There is a "Judgement Day" in the spiritual world also but nobody knows when it will be. This day is also a day of JUDGMENT. It is the day when Lucifer plays his last card without success, to then lie at the feet of the CREATOR with all those who didn't want to be separated from him.
