

HUMAN BEING | Only once on Earth?

... Many people do not recognise the true reason for their being here on planet Earth. They are of the opinion that this earthly existence is their one and only life and this is why they try to wield their power and their dogmatic laws over others.

From the protocol [Telepathy] - page 38

Most people do not believe in the survival of the soul after death, even though there are millions of indicators and phenomena in this world that should actually convince them otherwise. Man believes that death obliterates all his senses and that he will then no longer be able to perceive anything. ...

From the protocol [Too hot to handle \(a hot potato\)] - page 43

... Whatever man does here on Earth, he has always been confronted with transitoriness. This is why his dependable yardstick is always this transitoriness.

- The SPIRITUAL however is immortal and so is the human fluidity of the soul, immortal, indissoluble, indecomposable and of a divine NATURE.

From the protocol [Too hot to handle \(a hot potato\)] - page 43 - 44

Question:

How can you prove to me that people have an immortal soul?

Answer:

Let's assume that you were correct and man actually emerged from an unconscious darkness, from a nothingness onto this Earth, let's also assume that he never existed before he was born, but that the world existed a long time before he did. Man lives and develops, gathers experiences - and when his development is completed, he dies sooner or later - sometimes without development - and immediately returns to the unconscious darkness, the great nothingness. According to this philosophy, man would be born out of nothingness and lives life with all his senses and with full consciousness.

- But if this person returns to the same condition as before, according to scientific observation, he can return again and again from the same condition into a life on Earth and also return again to nothingness.

Thereby this theory proves to be absurd; then it proves in no way the uniqueness of physical human life on this star.

There are people on earth who just simply insist: "Nobody has ever returned from the other side." This too is idle talk. CHRIST returned! He visually practised the resurrection that applies to everyone. There are millions of people who have seen their departed ones, even if it was only for a few seconds or minutes. These people are simply ignored.

Man doesn't emerge out of darkness, but out of an animated universe and he returns to this animated universe - more than just once!

Nobody is forced to accept this TRUTH. But refusal doesn't annul the TRUTH, but it awaits everyone in the universe, with unimaginable reality and severity. ...

- Most people do not believe in the rebirth of the soul, because the churches are speaking out against it. Most people receive no answer to this question and this is why they show a complete disinterest in any answer that could enlighten them. They conform to the general view, which they accept.
- People believe that the sciences have investigated the absolute TRUTH in all things. This trust in science promotes arrogance.
- People believe that the major public media like the press, television and radio are under obligation to tell the TRUTH and to present it objectively. ...
- People believe that school wisdom is the measure of all things even when it is dealing with things beyond physical matter.
- People believe that they can do as they please without punishment as long as they are not caught by the terrestrial justice system.

People believe and believe and ...

(Excerpt from: "Historical development / Re-embodiment - an original Christian doctrine)

The question, if there are repeated lives on Earth for the same soul, is openly discussed these days. For the great world-religions (Hinduism, Buddhism), the fact that reincarnation exists, is without question, even if the doctrine has been falsified by saying, man can also incarnate in an animal. According to Christian theology, this is impossible and illogical. As an example, how could the soul of a Nobel Prize winner develop further as a cow?

Modern regression therapy already delivers serious experiments to prove reincarnation, by taking people back to past lives on Earth. The Christian Churches decidedly reject the possibility of different lives on Earth for human beings as heresy. Instead, they proclaim the dogma:

- That when the body is procreated, every soul is immediately created by GOD out of nothingness and because of the sin of Adam, comes to Earth instantly laden with guilt (original sin).
- Every human being has only one physical life, which decides for eternity. If they do not pass the tests, they are doomed to eternal hellfire.

While theologians can give no explanation for the various human existences often thought of as unjust, the doctrine of reincarnation on the other hand gives a meaningful and logic answer:

- Since the fall of man, all souls must go through a development process in the spiritual field, that will purify them through various, that is, repeated lives on Earth leading to perfection and ultimately to a union with GOD.
- *The variety found in different human destinies is explained through the LAW of KARMA, where every cause is followed by action. This LAW states: As you sow, you shall reap. ...

Question:

The knowledge about re-embodiment is not just the prerogative of Hindus and Buddhists, but was also common knowledge of all the peoples of the Mediterranean region during antiquity. Therefore, the original Christians would also have been familiar with re-embodiment. Is this correct?

EUPHENIUS:

The original Christians were certainly also aware of the doctrine of rebirth. ...

In the 5th century, reincarnation was still an undisputed fact within the Christian Church. ...

(Excerpt from: "Historical development / Re-embodiment - an original Christian doctrine)

The doctrine of the re-birth of the soul - a better term might be re-embodiment respectively "restoration" - denounced by the Christian Churches as heresy these days, existed in original Christianity! In spite of all the manipulations carried out on the biblical texts and the scriptures of the Church fathers, references for this doctrine can still be found, even today:

- An evil tongue starts the wheel of birth, Jacob 3, 6.
- Healing the one born blind, John. 9, 1 ff.
- John the Baptist as the re-born Elijah, Matt. 17, 10 ff.

The early Greek Church-fathers, like Gregor of Nyssa, Clemens of Alexandria, Tatian and especially Origen unequivocally advocate the fact of the pre-existence of the soul, of re-birth, of the LAW of KARMA and the return of all to GOD.

During the synod of the Eastern Church in Constantinople (543 A.D.), the doctrine of Origen, who had presented re-birth of the soul in a physical body in a biblically founded system, was rejected under threat of anathema, on purely political grounds, by the orders of Caesar Justinian 1. ...

From the protocol [\[Reincarnation\]](#) - page 58

(Excerpt from: "Historical development / How the removal of the doctrine of reincarnation came about)

... The synod was for the nearly 3,000 bishops, scattered throughout the whole empire, not binding. This is why a council was called that should ratify the prepared resolutions. Letters of invitations were sent to all bishops and they were worded in such a fashion, that one could hope, that none of the bishops of the Western Church would participate at the council. ...

Even the princes of the Church of the Eastern Church didn't seem to want to accept the invitation. Therefore, it took 10 years (553 A.D.) for the V. general council to get together.

- From the more than 3,000 bishops, exactly 165 were present, amongst them only 6 from the West.

... Under pressure from Caesar, the handful of bishops, representing the whole Church, decided that from then on, the doctrine of reincarnation had to be considered heresy and anyone advocating it, would be damned. ...

The lie about the one single life was very opportune for many of the power-hungry princes of the Church. From very early on, the Church lusted after secular power, which wasn't their's to have and sold the doctrine of their Lord and Master, so they themselves could play the master. They seized the power. Where earlier, thanks to reincarnation, the reconciliation of all souls with GOD shone blissfully bright, the dogma of eternal damnation ruled with a fist of iron. ...

If the Christians had continued to believe in reincarnation, the Church would have been stripped of all secular power. The Hindu and Buddhist “Churches” show this, they never possessed anywhere near such fullness of power. ...

From the protocol [\[Reincarnation\]](#) - page 69 - 71

(Excerpt from: “Historical development / Re-embodiment - an original Christian doctrine)

... Since that time, the reality of re-birth has disappeared from Church doctrine, and the Church, because it is bound by the decisions of its council, developed and dogmatically secured a completely different doctrine, which runs contrary to the Christian truth. (Original sin, creation of the soul at birth, a singular physical life, eternal Heaven, eternal hell.)

Question:

Oral traditions sport a number of proverbs that indicate a vague understanding of cause and effect: “What goes around comes around” or “You make your own luck” or what the poet Novalis expressed: “Do I not choose all my destinies since time immemorial?” We also find hints in regards to the laws of karma in the bible, for instance a sentence by the apostle Paul: Do not be fooled, God will not be mocked, whatever man sows he will reap: (Galatians 6. 7) Does this mean that reincarnation is therefore not purely an idea from the East?

EUPHENIUS:

All of these versions contain divine LAWS and they mirror GOD’S TRUTH.

- The LAW of REINCARNATION is one of the highest and most important of all LAWS. A meaningful existence for souls is not possible without this LAW. ...

From the protocol [\[Reincarnation and karma\]](#) - page 32 - 33

Question:

What was the reason for making reincarnation available to human souls?

LUKAS:

Well, it is because the CREATOR wanted to expand his absolute justice to include planet Earth. There was therefore no other choice but to make a fresh start in connection with a free will possible for these souls, in spite of some set boundaries.

- Absolute justice is only possible through reincarnation.

But because nobody teaches you about reincarnation, there are questions like why a person can live off the fat of the land, while somebody else is ill and can hardly sleep because of his pain. There are innumerable examples of alleged injustices and also many questions of why the CREATOR, who represents LOVE, allows something like that to happen.

- Only reincarnation and its associated karma can satisfactorily explain the law of cause and effect.

- A human being called into being by GOD consists of a duality.
- The human soul is immortal and consigned to development. The change within physical components takes place over eons.
- The death of a human being represents the taking off, respectively discarding of physical matter.
- The birth of a human being represents the putting on of a garment in order to develop and gain experience.
- Reincarnation strips human beings of their conscious memory so that they are unencumbered.
- Terrestrial death restores human being's conscious memory. They then survey their overall development.
- The spirit is more powerful than physical matter. This condition has been altered by terrestrial man over thousands of years and this to man's detriment.
- All human beings, no matter on which planet they live, have passed through a chain of existences as their own ancestors. Every human being has been their own ancestor and co-worker within the preceding time epoch.
- All human beings experience situations they have prearranged themselves. If they prearranged a war, they have to bear the consequences and this might be in the form of a reincarnation in an unimaginably chaotic situation.
- All human beings retain all their knowledge, experience, talents, education and development beyond their physical demise. These characteristics remain preserved and always become fully conscious after their return to their spirit EXISTENCE.
- Every life on any physical planet is just an excursion away from the SPIRITUAL REALM, which is really man's actual HOME. The SPIRITUAL REALM is incomprehensible to any human being living on any planet. It is enormous and larger than the physical universe.
- Human beings can be reincarnated on all inhabited planets.
- Human beings are subject to a higher JUSTICE. For human beings to be disadvantaged in any way is impossible. What was withheld from him or her here on Earth can be given in the spiritual realm or also be compensated for in a new incarnation.

- A millionaire has not reached a level that allows him to maintain this position after his demise or in another incarnation. Based on his actual level of development, he can be born into all kinds of situations.
- He, who had power in his hands here on Earth or on another planet, can be born a slave as compensation due to incorruptible divine JUSTICE.
- No human being can assert a permanent claim on his race. A higher authority determines the race one is reincarnated into. Every human being on Terra has experienced life as a member of many different races. A Christian could have been Jewish. A European could have been an American Indian and a priest can be born an atheist who cannot come to grips with any religion. All of this happens according to the CREATORS WILL who represents the universe's CENTRAL CONSCIOUSNESS. This is a constantly compensating JUSTICE and it only has evolution on its mind.
- People must be aware that being a human being brings great responsibilities with it. People must verify their existence as a human being in many ways. This path can take eons; because the universe is incomprehensibly large and it contains all levels of evolution.

Question:

Is it important to know as much as possible about reincarnation?

AREDOS:

It is pretty important to know, that people can and must return to Earth. This presents the possibility to square one's sins or to reap the harvest of good seeds sown. All of this is the LAW of GOD. Earth, a manner of speaking, is a class in the SCHOOL of DEVELOPMENT of the universe. If you "don't make the grade" in this class on Earth, you must repeat it once again or even a number of times, until the educational standard has been achieved that is asked for of a particular soul.

Question:

The Church denotes the reincarnation of the soul a false doctrine. But it was still anchored within the believe system of the early Christians. What are the reasons why this has changed?

LUKAS:

Well, the fact that people carried their own responsibility didn't suit the Church and therefore changes were made, assuring that the Church would always be the relevant authority in regards to GOD and his people. This assured the influence of the Church.

From the protocol [\[Reincarnation and karma\]](#) - page 10

Everything connected with this world is very simple - only you complicate it.

- The whole world situation emerged from one single mistake; everything is the result of this mistake. We are only dealing with the conscious survival after one's terrestrial demise. If mankind was sufficiently informed through a homogenous doctrine about this fact, this bungled world situation would be inconceivable.

From the protocol [\[Politics, for whom?\]](#) - page 98

A doctrine that has been destroyed can no longer be taught. This is why the responsible leaders of mankind on this Terra have no idea about the consequences of a reincarnation. The Holy Scriptures do mention man's responsibility in regards to GOD ... - Be assured that you have this responsibility!

- The consequences of a malevolent act are mainly realised in a terrestrial life, something you are destined to experience lots more.

It is heart-wrenching to know the kind of consequences politicians and church dignitaries burden themselves with when they consciously trespass against humanity's laws. Nuclear delinquents and war criminals are not to be envied. They advocate the point of view that they no longer have anything to do with this world, nor with their actions and preparations for actions after their demise.

What a terrible mistake!

- For as long as the majority of the people on Earth are of the opinion that every human being lives only once on this Earth and therefore only has one chance, man's behaviourism will never change. All wars, all weapons, actually the terrible cruelties of mass murder, of starvation and all negative events on Terra are simply and solely the result of this erroneous thought process and the sciences and the churches are to blame for this.

The incremental material development on this planet has managed to cultivate an unequalled negativity in regards to man's intuitive thoughts about his pre-existence, something that gives GOD'S antagonist enormous pleasure.

Interjection:

If it was possible for science to prove the existence of reincarnation, it would mean a giant step for mankind.

ELIAS:

Reincarnation has been proven hundreds of years ago, but one ignores the evidence. If one doesn't like the taste of something, one will not eat it. There are enough cases, where someone remembered details of a previous life. One has taken these people to the very place of their remembrance and they recognised everything, even thou they have never been to that place at all. One cannot prove anything more in this case, one can only accept!

Question:

Would it not constitute a giant step in the right direction, namely to affect changes here, if the sciences were successful in producing evidence in regards to reincarnation?

LUKAS:

... there is without doubt already an enormous amount of evidence available and applied to your earthly jurisdiction; it would have condemned every criminal long ago. Evidence only does not seem to have any validity when it comes to reincarnation.

From the protocol [Reincarnation and karma] - page 35

Professor Heisenberg has proven that the impossible doesn't exist! Impossible are all the things that have no explanation. As soon as an explanation is found, the impossible stops to be so and it becomes part of science.

It is exactly the same with reincarnation: Science knows no plausible explanation for this occurrence, but that doesn't mean it's impossible! Today's discoveries point towards reincarnation. If one interprets it differently, one finds that it is for the same reasons, that the unusual has always been declared impossible.

- GOD, the CREATOR doesn't call such excellent things into being, to see them fall prey to absolute annihilation. Therefore, it is unthinkable that GOD let a complicated and talented being like a human, not live beyond the physical death.

Because you can't see the soul with your own eyes is not proof, that re-embodiment doesn't exist. The re-embodiment of the soul can readily be observed with infants. You don't need those cases, where people suddenly remember their environment.

- It seems impossible, that infants adapt so quickly to this highly developed world and society, if they had not intuitive access to fragments of previous lives experiences.

These experiences are not inherited from parents or ancestors. They are one's own experiences, slumbering in one's consciousness, but every once in a while a recollection happens, triggering the proper behaviour.

Evidence of the re-embodiment hypothesis

It happens that small children, when they start to talk at age 1 ½ to 2, assert that they were actually somebody else, that they had different parents and that they lived somewhere completely different. They initially express themselves quite clumsily and in short sentences, mispronounce words and use gestures to underline what they actually want to say (14, P. 14). The older they get and the more comprehensive their vocabulary grows, the more exact their narrations about their past, sensed curricula vitae become.

These children accurately talk about their past names, the names of their parents and other relatives from their past life's history including the kind of death they suffered, in pronounced cases. They describe the environment at that time in great detail and often accurately mention the names of places and even streets. ...

The American psychiatrist Professor Jan Stevenson, with the help of his colleagues, researched about 200 of such cases and in 1973 published a representative cross section of 20 reports in a second edition (14). He said that the international statistics he established up to 1973 contained nearly 600 cases that support the hypothesis of reincarnation (14, P. 17). ...

Reincarnation is the most important fact ever! Without reincarnation, life would have no meaning! The progress and development of the universe happens through reincarnation. Where would all these souls come from that live on Earth? The theologians are not instructed about reincarnation. No wonder they distance themselves from it.

Some theologians are well aware that the doctrine of reincarnation would achieve considerably better results, because above everything else, it represents a logical link and fills the gap inserted into the Christian bible, inserted in order to have the authority to wield power over people. Theological circles become ever more anxious, because they are aware of the questions coming from the populace and they are also aware of their own helplessness.

From the protocol [\[Reincarnation and karma\]](#) - page 10

Question:

Could one say that the Church will only survive if it reintroduces the doctrine of reincarnation into its curriculum?

EUPHENIUS:

These religions will experience an inrush of souls and they will rise to the occasion and spread this knowledge. Mankind on Earth is looking for the meaning of life. Your consciousness has expanded, because new VIBRATIONS, new insights and luminous souls have reincarnated on this planet. These (reformed) Churches will then be able to give your human soul the contentment, LOVE and tranquillity your soul hungers for. But in the meantime, more and more people will turn away from religious communities because they are a fossilised remnant from a past that cannot survive here anymore.

- Religions that allow the seed of hope to grow, namely that not everything comes to an end after one's earthly existence, will be heard and they will make the seed of hope grow anew in people.
